

LEE M. ROSENBAUM

Lee Rosenbaum is a vice president of Loomis, Sayles & Company and portfolio manager for the Loomis Sayles global equity opportunities and global allocation strategies. He joined Loomis Sayles in 2008 as a senior global equity analyst for the firm's central research group, covering the industrial, materials and financial services sectors. Lee later joined the global equity team as a dedicated product analyst. He was promoted to portfolio manager in 2013. Previously, Lee covered the financial services sector for Putnam Investments. Lee earned a BS with honors in civil engineering from the United States Coast Guard Academy, and an MBA from the Sloan School of Management at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Prior to his graduate studies, he served in the United States Coast Guard, achieving the rank of lieutenant.